MESSAGE FROM THE IN-CHARGE

As we embark on a new year, it is paramount that we reflect on the core values and life skills that define us as individuals and as a community. Our commitment to instilling these principles is fundamental to our collective success and personal development.

Values such as integrity, respect, and empathy form the bedrock of our organizational culture. It is through the consistent practice of these values that we create a positive and nurturing environment for everyone. Let us embrace a culture where honesty is celebrated, diversity is cherished, and kindness is second nature.

Life skills, too, play a crucial role in shaping our journey. The ability to communicate effectively, solve problems creatively, and adapt to change are essential in navigating the complexities of life. Let us invest in continuous learning and provide opportunities for skill development to empower each member of our community.

Happy Reading!

"Before discarding, consider the impact: every item has a story and a potential to contribute to a cleaner, greener world."

Lifestyle for environment - Mission LiFE an India led global mass movement to nudge individual and community action to protect and preserve the environment. This theme was beautifully portrayed by the students of IID through their assembly. The meaningful and well-presented Role play by the students made audience aware of various green and healthier green lifestyle choices highlighting the individual action and collective responsibility of populace to bring about a much needed transformative change' by walking the talk' in the UN action decade 20-30. Students through the insightful Dohas, mesmerising dance and melodious choir brought about the importance of living in harmony with. Applauding the great presentation by students Principal Ms Luthra reiterated that Living an environmentally conscious lifestyle not only reduces our ecological footprint but also sets an example for others to follow. Small, consistent changes in everyday choices can collectively make a significant positive impact on the environment. Ms Harvey, our special guest under school immersion program was spell bound by the creativity talent and enthusiasm of young learners. Incharge Dr Renuka Rawat, congratulating the students said that it is our collective endeavour to make students aware of the correct and right choices for a green environment. The right nudge and correct choices will definitely make our learners future ready. The pledge to adopt pro-planet choices was taken by all present, Once again promising to work in partnership for the wellbeing of planet Earth.

"The greatness of a nation and its moral progress can be judged by the way its animals are treated"

Conservation of wildlife is vital for maintaining the life support system and establishing a line of balance in the ecosystem.

The students of grade II E conducted a special assembly 'One planet One Home' on Wednesday, 18th October 2023. The students showcased the best of their talents through thoughts, facts, roleplay, song and dance. This young brigade spread the message loud and clear that the presence of animals in the forest is an indicator of the wellbeing of the ecosystem.

The message delivered through the young ambassadors supporting the campaign 'Save the endangered animals' filled everyone's hearts with the hope to continue sighting these magnificent animals flourishing in the wild forever. They were appreciated for their remarkable and laudable performances by the audience present on the occasion.

Global Handwashing Day

Washing your hands properly is the most effective way of preventing illness and the spreading of germs. International Handwashing Day is all about educating others on the importance of hand washing and promoting good hand hygiene amongst all.

To raise awareness on the importance of handwashing for children's health and education, Students at LPW celebrated International Handwashing Day on 15th October with great enthusiasm. Students were educated about personal hygiene and cleanliness through virtual discussions. Exciting and fun activities enabled them to be active and generated their own insights about washing issues. A handwashing activity was organized for the little ones as well. Teachers explained the do's and don'ts of hand hygiene. Students were taught the steps of washing hands and to keep themselves healthy by cleaning hands regularly. Tiny tots were motivated to wash their hands before and after having their meals as dirty hands were the root cause of various diseases.
