Dear Parent

Summer vacations are full of fun and frolic. We get up early in the morning, play with our friends, go out for picnics, and explore new places. There is a lot more to do to make the vacations more interesting, exciting, meaningful & full of fun.

We at ASN pick up a theme every year; theme of 2016-17 is “UN Sustainable Development Goals”. To achieve these goals following topics are chosen and the activities in relevance are being incorporated in the holiday homework.

1. Save the marine life
2. Save the wildlife

- Make your home a place for reading –

We all want our children to be both mentally as well as physically fit. Where there are a lot of games and other physical exercises known to us to stay physically fit, for our mental fitness reading is considered to be a very good exercise.

It improves our vocabulary, concentration and memory power.

Kids will learn reading skills in school but practicing the same at home will enhance it. Not only it boosts their confidence and makes them aware about their surroundings but also improves self-esteem, discipline, creativity, reasoning skills and reduces digital addiction too. So let's team up with our kids to explore and enjoy the world of books.

Note: "Reading is to the mind what exercise is to the body."

"Books are a treasure and reading is a pleasure."

Here are some tips to help parents of young children to promote reading at home.

1. Choose a suitable time for reading to your child, before the afternoon nap, or after dinner.
2. Choose a special place for family reading, like a comfortable chair or pillow piled on the floor.
3. Let your child select a book for you to read.
4. Read aloud a story daily to your child.
5. Hold the book so that she or he can see the pictures, also let her or him turn the pages.
6. Take time to look at and talk about the pictures. Don't just read the story: talk about it. Let your child point out the letters, shapes, colors and animals.
7. Children read through environment, so make it text rich.

Converse in English with your ward as it will improve language & enhance the communicative skills.

- Let's know our Surroundings- As children learn to observe their surroundings, they begin to both identify and distinguish between sounds, sights, tastes, smells, and sensations.

They develop a sense of curiosity about themselves and the world around them. We encourage parents to point out, discuss and expose children to the world around them. First hand observation and hands-on experience is the best way to give these children the foundation that they need for learning.

Directions: - When you're in the car, shopping at the grocery store, or waiting at the petrol pump, help your toddler to point to all the things that he/ she sees. Help him/her to identify various shapes and colors. Children should be encouraged to ask questions. As we all know, having answers to questions is the first step towards satisfying the basic thirst for knowledge.

● Make your Child Independent by letting him/her do various day to day activities like:

1. Buttoning and unbuttoning the shirt.
2. Learn to wear shoes and socks.
3. Taking bath independently.
4. Folding mats and clothes.
5. Arranging their toy shelf.
6. Learn how to zip their school bag and clothes.
